

A close-up photograph of a lupine plant. The central focus is a tall, slender stem covered in small, bell-shaped flowers that transition from light pink at the base to a pale purple at the top. The leaves are bright green and have a distinctive palmate shape with several pointed leaflets. In the background, other lupine plants are visible, some with blue flowers, creating a lush, green field. The lighting is bright and natural, highlighting the textures of the leaves and the delicate structure of the flowers.

Exodus 10:02 And that thou mayest tell in the ears of thy son, and of thy son's son, what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my signs which I have done among them; that ye may know how that I am the LORD.