

A close-up photograph of golden wheat stalks, showing the intricate details of the grain heads and the long, thin awns. The wheat is bathed in warm, golden light, creating a rich, textured appearance. Overlaid on the upper portion of the image is white text in a bold, serif font.

Job 02:06 And the LORD said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand;
but save his life.