

A close-up photograph of purple hydrangea flowers. The background is filled with large, vibrant purple petals. In the center, there is a dense cluster of small, round buds, some of which are green and others are a light blue or purple. The text is overlaid on this image in a white, serif font.

Joshua 08:13 And when they had set the people, even all the host that was on the north of the city, and their liers in wait on the west of the city, Joshua went that night into the midst of the valley.