

A close-up photograph of a pine tree branch. The image shows several clusters of bright green, needle-like leaves radiating from small brown woody stems. The background is a soft-focus view of more pine branches, creating a dense, textured green environment. The lighting is natural, highlighting the texture of the needles and the bark.

Ezekiel 48:35 It was round about eighteen thousand measures : and the name of the city from that day shall be , The LORD is there.