

A photograph of a river with white water rapids. The water is turbulent and white with foam as it flows over dark, jagged rocks. In the foreground, there is a patch of green grass and some bare, thin branches. The background shows more rocks and a slightly higher bank with some greenery.

Genesis 32:08 And said, If Esau come to the one company, and smite it, then the other company which is left shall escape.