

A photograph of a garden path. The path is paved with light-colored rectangular stones and runs straight through the center. On both sides of the path, there are white wooden trellises. Red roses are climbing the trellises, with many flowers in bloom. The background shows a grassy hillside with some trees and a building in the distance under a blue sky with light clouds.

Psalm 45:07 Thou lovest
righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.