

A close-up photograph of a field of lupines. The central focus is a tall, slender stem with a dense cluster of small, light pink flowers. To the left, another stem features a cluster of small, blue flowers. The background is filled with lush green lupine leaves, which have a characteristic palmate shape with several leaflets radiating from a central point. The lighting is bright and natural, highlighting the textures of the petals and leaves.

Acts 10:37 That word, I say, ye know, which was published throughout all Judaea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached;