

A photograph of a river with white water rapids flowing over large, dark, rounded rocks. The water is turbulent and foamy, creating a sense of movement and energy. The background shows more rocks and some greenery, suggesting a natural, forested setting.

Isaiah 21:12 The watchman said,
The morning cometh, and also the night: if ye will inquire, inquire ye:
return, come.