

Genesis 32:21 So went the present
over before him: and himself lodged that night in the company.

A close-up photograph of turbulent, white-water rapids in a river. The water is churning and frothy, creating a dense field of white foam against a darker greenish-brown water. In the background, dark, jagged rocks are partially submerged, creating the rough terrain for the rapids. The lighting is bright, highlighting the texture of the water's surface.
