

The background of the image shows several purple and white flowers with dark centers, likely from a species like Aster or Helianthus, growing on a green stem with leaves. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate petals and the vibrant colors of the flowers.

Matthew 23:35 That upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel unto the blood of Zacharias son of Barachias, whom ye slew between the temple and the altar.